

NATIONAL DIALOGUE FOR
Healthcare Innovation

Please join us for a briefing

Healthcare Innovation and Progress in a Sunshine Era:
Establishing Principles for 21st Century Collaboration

Monday, March 11, 2013
U.S. Capitol Visitor Center (HVC 201)
Noon – 1:30 pm
Washington, DC

Lunch will be provided
RSVP to Debbie at dwitchey@hlc.org

- What are the benefits and value of principled collaboration to patients and the healthcare system?
- How do you achieve consensus among patients, providers, academia and industry on principles to help guide current and future physician-industry working relationships?
- How will the final Sunshine provisions impact future innovation and principled collaboration?

Confirmed Speakers

- Mary Greal, President, Healthcare Leadership Council
- David Caraway, MD, PhD, St. Mary's Medical Center
- Guy Chisolm, PhD, Director, Innovation Management and Conflict of Interest Program, Cleveland Clinic
- Ryan M. Hohman, JD, MPA, Managing Director, Policy & Public Affairs, Friends of Cancer Research

About NDHI

The National Dialogue for Healthcare Innovation was formed by the Healthcare Leadership Council, a coalition of chief executives representing all sectors of American healthcare, as an interactive forum where leaders from across the healthcare industry can work toward consensus on the most important issues affecting healthcare innovation, and ultimately, patient care.

The NDHI Summit on Physician-Industry Collaboration, was a first-of-its-kind cross-disciplinary dialogue on the issue of collaboration between physicians, industry, and other stakeholders in the U.S. healthcare ecosystem that drives innovation for the benefit of patients.

